NORTHEAST RESOURCE
RECOVERY ASSOCIATION

PRESS RELEASE

Rachel Gosselin (Middlebury, VT) Receives Special Recognition Award for Recycling Efforts

EPSOM, NH (Today's Date) The Northeast Resource Recovery Association (NRRA) honored Rachel Gosselin, CFO, American Retroworks, with a Special Recognition Award on Monday, May 16th 2016 at NRRA's Annual Conference and Expo, held at The Radisson Hotel in Nashua, NH. The Special Recognition Award recognizes those individuals who have gone above and beyond to improve recycling.

Since 2006, Gosselin has worked in the finance department for American Retroworks, based in Middlebury, Vermont. She has made big steps to help the company with its electronics recycling efforts, which in turn has made a positive impact on the environment with safe, ethical and legal electronics disposal.

Robin Ingenthron, CEO, American Retroworks nominated Gosselin for the award.

"In 2006, she took over payroll and invoicing and within 6 weeks had done more than her predecessor had done in 12 months," said Gosselin. "Now as CFO, she brings a balance of caring about recycling, doing recycling right and caring about people."

Ingenthron states that Gosselin's ability to stay ahead of the industry trends is a true gift. She has helped the company thrive even when there were changes in markets in 2009, changes in e-waste laws in 2011 and changes in demand for reused products.

Good Point Recycling (division of American Retroworks Inc.) is a nationally-recognized electronics recycling company, consulting office, and expert in Fair Trade Recycling. It is one of the region's leading "e-waste" recycling operations, based in Middlebury, Vermont.
